Hello

Thank you for your reply. Yes I watched the meeting and saw the reference to our map revision request by the alternate commissioner. We appreciate your immediate attention to this matter.

While I initially sent you the map of HV from the archived 2007 community plan, the designation has not changed. The most current Homestead Valley Community Boundary map is identical and is in the 2020 action guide which can be found here: <http://countywideplan.com/homesteadvalley/>

Click on the map link under "Communities Planning Boundary", or see it directly here:
http://countywideplan.com/wp-content/uploads/2016/09/Homestead\_Valley45-1.jpg

The Homestead Valley Community is comprised of Johnson Valley, Landers, Flamingo Heights, and Yucca Mesa. The designation that the commission sees on the census map being used does not encompass the Homestead Valley community in its entirety. It is very important to us that the commission is aware of this discrepancy in maps and that the redistricting map be edited to reflect the historically correct community boundaries defined in the 2020 SB County Community Plan maps before any decisions are made.

Thank you for your help in this matter.

Good afternoon,

As I communicated yesterday, we did provide your map of the Homestead Valley to our Redistricting Consultants. I wanted to provide you with their response as to some possible reasons why there is a discrepancy between the map in the online tool and your map:

I do indeed see the differences in the two maps, the one provided and the one provided in the online tool. I don't necessarily have an answer for Mr. Harvey, other than to point out a couple of reasons this might be the case. First, the lines provided by the Census are typically what are reported by the county to the Census administration for municipality and designated place boundaries. Those are the lines that we have loaded to the online tool, as they are what the Census has reported on. Second, the map provided is a Community Plan from 2007, so may indeed have been the correct lines at the time but has since changed. I do not know if that is the case, but it is another possible reason for the discrepancy

Additionally, your map of Homestead Valley was provided to the Commissioners at the meeting today, 9/22/2021 in Rancho Cucamonga, so they have been made aware of your comments and concerns.

Thank you so much, and have a wonderful day.

Thank you for your reply and for accepting our comments. I'm not sure if it matters, but the outline of our community in your interactive map is not correct and excludes much of our community designation. The correct boundaries of Homestead Valley are attached. This map is taken from the SB County General Plan / Community Plan. Please include this in our comments, if possible.

Thank you

Comment:: I am commenting on behalf of the Homestead Valley Community Council (HVCC). Homestead Valley is a San Bernardino County community designation comprised of the 4 unincorporated communities of Yucca Mesa, Flamingo Heights, Landers, and Johnson Valley in the high desert. HVCC is a 12 member council with delegates from each of the four member communities. We are currently in the 3rd supervisorial district and wish to remain in 3rd district. Additionally, we work closely with Lucerne Valley to the west of us, and we would like to see Lucerne Valley remain in the 3rd district as well. Please keep Homestead Valley and Lucerne Valley as they are, in 3rd supervisorial district. Thank you.

Lucerne Valley needs to remain in the Third Sup. District - along with Johnson Valley - Homestead Valley - Morongo Valley. We all share the same rural/land-use characteristics and issues - and must remain unified under one District acting together. Other than shopping and medical services - we have little in common with urban Apple Valley.

Good morning Redistricting team!

I hope you all had a wonderful weekend. Please allow me to submit the attached zip folder of COIs from community partners across the county. A number of organizations held community meetings with residents and documented COIs that were identified in those meetings. They are here for your reference and consideration.

All the best,
